

Memorandum of Understanding
Between Ozarks Technical Community College
And Rockbridge Seminary

This agreement is made and entered into as of the 1st day of March, 2007, by and between Ozarks Technical Community College and Rockbridge Seminary.

Ozarks Technical Community College agrees to be the preferred provider of online undergraduate general education courses for selected Rockbridge Seminary students. Students needing general education courses to meet associate degree requirements will be directed to Ozarks Technical Community College to take online courses for transfer to Rockbridge Seminary.

Rockbridge Seminary students must complete the application process at Ozarks Technical Community College and meet all admission requirements for enrollment at Ozarks Technical Community College. Rockbridge students taking courses at Ozarks Technical Community College will pay the tuition and fees as set forth for Ozarks Technical Community College at the time and will entitle them to access the same services as all other students. Rockbridge Seminary will accept Ozarks Technical Community College general education credit without review or transfer fees.

Both institutions agree to collaborate in the development and enhancement of online delivery of educational experiences.

The parties may amend or supplement this Memorandum of Understanding by writing at any time. Changes will be effective only after representatives from both institutions have agreed in writing to the changes. Either party may terminate this agreement by written notice. Any notice of termination should not adversely impact students and should provide a period of transition.
